VALENTINE'S Ready-Mixed PAINTS.

If you purpose painting in the near future we take the liberty of suggesting the advisability of your using High Grade Paint, made of absolutely pure Linseed Oil carefully selected and the best pigments that the markets of the world afford. Such an article is Valentine's Ready-Mixed Paint.

In addition to being made of the very best material, carefully and uniformly ground, each gallon can contains a full gallon of the United States Standard.

It will cost you the same for labor whether you use a good and high-priced paint or a poor and cheap paint, and you cannot get a good article unless you pay a good price for it. If you use a cheap paint your house will disclose the fact in a very few months and will soon require re-painting. If you use the best paint you can buy you will secure durability and perfect satisfaction. As labor is the most important item in painting the paint that will wear the longest is certainly the paint that you require, and we need not remind you that the paint that will give perfect satisfaction and the longest possible wear will prove cheapest in the end.

The name of Valentine & Company, which is associated only with the manufacture of High Grade Varnishes, Colors and Paints, is sufficient guarantee that our Ready-Mixed Paints will fulfill every claim that we make for them. On a new surface primed, or an old one properly treated, one gallon of Valentine's Liquid House Paint will cover 300 square feet of surface two coats. It must be borne in mind, of course, that a very porous or rough surface will require more paint than a hard and smoot surface.

The following are our agents: I. S. ANNAN, Emmitsburg, Md.; E. P. MILLER, Abbottstown, Pa., and BASEHOAR & MEHRING, Littlestown, Pa.

Last Tuesday evening Guy Swope, the 14-year-old son of E. B. Swope, who lives with Dr. J. E. Glenn, met with what proved to be almost a fatal accident when he, in mistake, took a corrosive sublimate tablet for a cough lozenge. This, as is well known, is one of the most deadly of poisons, and the amount that the tablet contained was enough to kill two persons. Fortunately he instantly discovered his mistake and as medical aid was at hand his life was saved, which would have been impossible had he discovered his mistake five minutes later. The effects of the drug on his stomach were so severe that he is still confined to bed and can take little or no nourishment. G. M. N.

The next state Democratic convention will have but 309 delegates instead of 417 the number this year. The rule provides that there shall be one delegate in a district of every 1,000 voters, or a majority fraction of a thousand, and this cuts Philadelphia down from 60 to 28, the vote in tha city being exceedingly small. Dauphin also suffers, getting five delegates where she had six this year. Luzerne jumped from 14 to 24, and Lancaster drops from 8 to 5. Even Berks tumbles from 19 to 11.

Coughing

"I was given up to die with quick consumption. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I improved at once, and am now in perfect health."—Chas. E. Hartman, Gibbstown, N. Y.

It's too risky, playing with your cough. The first thing you know it will be down deep in your lungs and the play will be over. Begin early with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and stop the cough.

Three sizes: 25c., enough for an ordinary cold; 50c., just right for bronchitis, hoarseness, hard colds, etc.; $1, most economical for chronic cases and to keep on hand.

CARRIER'S ADDRESS.

Farewell, Old Year; thy course is run,
Thy thread of life is fully spun;
Thy deeds of goodness all are done,
Finis we write for NINETEEN-ONE.
To-day the beauteous New Year's sun
Effulgent sheds its beams upon
A smiling world, so good, so true,
This natal day of NINETEEN-TWO.
The fleeting months, the weeks, the days,
Are ours to use to God's great praise:
Then prize them much; they will not stay;
For soon, too soon, they pass away.
With kind regards for each and all,
The Carrier makes his wonted call,
And hopes that all his patrons may
Enjoy this glorious New Year's day,
And trusts that none, throughout the year,
May need to shed the scalding tear
For loved companions gone before
To Canaan's bright and shining shore.

If you would see the Carrier smile,—
Would fill his heart with joy the while,
Would quicken him and make him clever
Would make him think of you forever,
Then do not fail to show good-will
By kindly tip to Samuel.
For 'tis this self-same youth who brings
The paper weekly and who sings
In merry mood as on his round
He goes where patrons do abound.
Through summer storms and winter snows,
Without default he bravely goes,
Full panoplied with truth and right,
Purveyor he of life and light.

The COMPILER still is in the lead
Of papers such as people need
For items, locals and for fun,
For news they can rely upon,
For editorials terse and neat,
For sketches strong and full of meat.

The old year's gone, its balance struck
For business, pleasure or for luck.
Time and eternity shall greet
The justice of the balance sheet.
Here all that has been seen or known,
All deeds of mercy fully shown,
The good, the bad, the joy, the grief,
The preacher's word, the lawyer's brief,
The doctor's scalpel and his pill,
The merchant's ledger and his till,
The teacher's ferule and his book,
The shepherd's flocklings and his crook,
The mason's trowel and his level,
The printer's foreman and his devil,
The necromancer and his signs,—
All, all writ down in fadeless lines.

September last a sad event,
The murder of the President,
By awful deed of anarch hand,
Brought deepest grief to all the land.
God grant in all eternity
Such crimes may ever odious be.

A new steam road from Washington
Through Westminster and Littlestown,
To this our town of Gettysburg,
And thence perchance to Harrisburg,
Is now the talk, go where you will,
From Maryland to Idaville.

On Afric's hills and blood-stained veldt
The scourging hand the Boers have felt.
A thousand Isles in Orient far
Groan neath the blight of despot's star.

In China, too, the land of flowers,
The bloody hand hath marked the hours.
Loathsome thy record here indeed,
Inspired by rapine, lust and greed,
Till vengeance swift, with mighty hand,
Laid low the arm of Boxer's band,
And rescued from fanatic knife
Those doomed to death in horrid strife.
In other lands some horrors deep
Must surely make the angels weep.
And truth's bright pages needs must tell
Of human sympathy as well.
While millions die of famine sore,
Christians will send full ample store
To prove, as other years have proved,
A million hearts by pity moved.

Heap on more coal! The wind is chill;
But let it whistle as it will,
We'll have our happy New Year still.
Each age has deemed the new-born year
The fittest time for festal cheer.
And well our noble sires of old
Loved when the year its course had rolled,
And blithe New Year came back again
With all its hospitable train.
The fire, with well-dried logs supplied,
Went roaring up the chimney wide.
Thus New Year broached the mightiest alc;
Thus New Year told the merriest tale;
A New Year's gambol oft could cheer
The poor man's heart through half the year.
Old times are changed, old customs gone,
The years have changed them one by one;
The carpers of our later time
Now call these harmless joys a crime.

Just now there is in public life,
Much argument and wordy strife
About the man who gained the day
In Santiago's famous bay,
And in a brief but pregnant hour
Destroyed Spain's boasted naval power.
Scarce had the smoke of battle cleared,
When swarms of envious ones appeared,
Who spared no efforts to defame
And blast the hero's honored name.
The charge, in brief, was simply this:
"Neglect of Duty—Cowardice."
No man of pluck, not even Schley,
Could tamely 'neath such stigma lie.
A hearing asked. The case was tried;
Schley's motives, actions—all decried.
"Guilty in form," the jury said,
And the Navy clique was one ahead.
Another jury, millions strong,
Pronounce the Navy finding wrong.
This high court, for the country's weal,
Grants no snap judgments, no appeal.

Next, dear friends, a little candor,
Ere I on my journey wander.
Gettysburg, with all its graces,
All its proud ancestral traces,
All its bright and happy faces,
Is behind some other places,
In general progressiveness,
We may as well in truth confess.
If we are wise as we should be,
We'll see ourselves as others see.
Then let us strive more earnestly
To help build up more industry,
Revive the idle Stocking Mill,
And with new hands the places fill,
And soon turn out such hosiery
As will be found a luxury.
Help on the talked-of Iron Mill
Before it takes a fatal chill;
Of such a plant the town has need,
Then boom it quick in word and deed.
Encourage much the new soap plant;
Don't say you won't or that you can't;
Each citizen should do his part
To give this industry a start.
The Emmert Hartzell Company,
With sciene, skill and energy,
Makes cutlery of finest grade,
Keen as the blades Damascus made.
All industries like these should find
Encouragement both prompt and kind.

A trolley line will soon be here,
'Tis said by some, within a year,
From Baltimore, in Maryland.
Most welcome news, indeed, and grand.

The Battlefield needs little note,—
Each school-boy knows it well by rote:
The tide of pilgrims ne'er is done
To view the field where valor won,
To view the spot where Reynolds fell,
Whom all his soldiers loved so well;
The spot where fell brave Colonel Cross,
Augmenting much his country's loss:
The knoll on which bled brave Barlow,
Where few save him would dare to go:
The deeply dank and rocky dell,
Where the intrepid Taylor fell:
The ground where Ellis, cool of head,
Was quickly numbered with the dead;
The rock on which brave Vincent stood,
Confronted by the men of Hood;
Where Pickett's troops, with bated breath,
Marched to inevitable death;
Where Armistead, in fierce melee,
Fought there to wrest from Meade the day:
Where Lincoln spoke, with streaming eye,
His epic that will never die.
All these, and other points as well,
Will have for aye their tales to tell.
The Park's improvements, great and grand,
Are visible on every hand.
Smooth avenues, all firm and wide,
Now greet the view on every side.
In other lines we daily see
New things that strike us pleasantly.
For all these joys our thanks are due,
And that is all that we can do.
Farewell, Old Year, for part we must;
We read thy message, "Dust to dust."

Thy work on earth was bravely done.
Thy course, Old Year, was quickly run.
Into thy cycle thou hast passed,
And God's reward is thine at last.
Thy years are God's; His fingers trace
The cycling orb in boundless space.
Not man's to read His deep design,
But know such wisdom is divine.
My humble rhymes are fully spun,
I'll end my lay where I begun,
Until another year has gone.
Of poet's gifts I've simply none,
My aim has been to give you fun,
And hope your favor I have won.
And now, dear friends, my task is done,
A kind farewell to every one.

CARRIER.

FROM THE PHILIPPINES

ANOTHER INTERESTING LETTER FROM WILLIAM A. KEPNER, ONE OF OUR YOUNG MEN IN THAT FAR COUNTRY—SOME OF HIS EXPERIENCES.

BURANEN, LEYTE ISLAND, P. I.
October 17, 1901.

My dear Parents:

One cool, clear October morning in '98 I sat in my room watching a toad dragging himself through the stiff mud. He seemed just a little out of harmony with the season. I observed that summer was over and then wrote the following for an introduction to a little article for "The College Student:" One by one the leaves of summer fade and fall; petal by petal the flowers disappear. The birds whose happy songs have cheered us during the summer, warned of winter by frosty nights, have sought warmer hospitality. The boisterous croak of the old frog and the merry chirp of the young one have been hushed for weeks. No longer does the sunny bank tempt the cold-blooded serpent. The old toad, fattened by a prosperous summer, has ceased to hop, and wearily drags himself through thick autumn mud to his rest. He seemed out of harmony with the season because frosty nights had come. I now feel somewhat out of harmony with the season because frosty nights do not come. I cannot now look at fading leaves and disappearing flowers and bid farewell to summer, for this is a land of continuous summer. Plants of many kinds are continually blooming. Bats, snakes and toads have no snow-bound season in which to live upon their summer's fat. Everything is new and strange and interesting. A botanist is usually happy when he finds a plant new to him. It is seldom that he is made more happy by finding an old species than by finding one new to him. And yet on Tuesday I took off my hat to a plant because it was one of the first that I had learned to recognize, and because it reminded me of my grandmother's flower bed and America. This was the common, red "lady slipper" or otherwise called "touch-me-not." It has pleased me greatly to see the cocoanut, date and orange trees bloom, but I was more pleased when I, like a wandering friend, found this little plant alone, like myself in the far-away Philippines. So you see when the time comes for my home coming you need not fix up our humble little home, for you will find me ready to appreciate the most trifling objects. You know I never cared much to see the hoe, but when I get back it shall find a friend in me.

I have just been interrupted by the boy who does the work about our house. He has offered to sweep and scrub our house, carry water, shine shoes, run errands and make our beds, for nightly instruction in English. He has proved a good boy so we give him $2 a month, which is as much as many men earn here. He interrupted me by asking for a lesson. When I went near him I found he had a supper that pleases any native, for he had with him a strong odor of fish. I understood then why he asked to go to chow chow (pronounced sow sow in Leyte) or feed so early. He knew a good supper awaited him. Perhaps like some American boys, he had eaten little dinner since a good supper was ahead. The food of the majority of the people is very simple; cocoanuts, bananas, rice, chickens and fish is about all they eat. Grasshoppers are their greatest delicacy; all classes relish these. The best class, which make up a small minority, live very well. So long as I board with the Padre I shall fare better than I ever did at a boarding school. The Padre is becoming quite a friend of mine. He by this time has examined my wearing apparel, and wants me to buy nearly everything for him. He wants a coat, a hat, shoes and collars like mine. Most of all he has envied my watch. He says he will give me $10 mex. ($5 gold) for a chain like mine, and $90 mex. ($45 gold) for a watch just like mine. "Sell me that hat or pair of hose?" "How much did you pay for that knife?" "How much do you get for teaching?" Such are the questions for us to answer or evade. I have so far kept the Padre off on the last one by telling him every time that I get enough to live on.

The customs of the people are very primitive in many ways. The other day I called upon the Presidente, or mayor of the town. He had been sleeping, but he crawled out of bed and came out to see me, clad in night clothes. Soon his wife came in. She was in some time when, for some reason, she suggested that it might be well for him to put on pantaloons. He took the suggestion and soon returned clad in more American fashion. Like the Japanese they are very anxious for American clothing and manners. Lately the church celebrated a holiday; a great parade, perhaps a half mile long, was held. This, unlike most things here, greatly appealed to me. It was fully as impressive as are the exercises at Gettysburg on Memorial Day. One thing greatly marred the beauty of the parade; this was one of those things that in America are often works of art and costly, and often on the other hand, costly, gross, unreal imitations of nature. On this occasion it happened to be a gaudy jumble of artificial flowers and straw which in America would pass for a woman's hat. This was worn by a little pickaninny, who toddled along shaking the wired paper flowers much as a prancing horse shakes his head in a circus parade. And there you have one phase of the jar you felt, for the idea of a circus parade no more harmonized with that of a religious parade, than did those gaudy flowers with that chocolate face. I sometimes pity these poor people, for, for centuries, they have been trying to adjust themselves to the Spanish language and customs. Now when they have fairly started in this way, they are confronted with American customs and language. Nor do they complain as much as an American would. As you see the most of them are like hungry fish; for a bait they are scrambling for the English language and American ways.

The Spaniards have reduced them to mere slaves. This week it was well for me and my companion that they have done so, for Guyer has taken sick. He has what the doctors call recruit's fever. This, from what I can learn, must be a form of home-sickness. I finally was ordered to move him to Dulog, where there is a hospital. The roads are now impassable with a wagon, so at four o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, with six little men, none taller than I, we set out through mud for Dulog, twelve miles distant. The men formed three relays of two, to carry Guyer (140 lbs.) on their shoulders. We had gone about five miles, when one of the men suggested that as an American, I command a man who happened to meet us, to turn and help. I greatly disliked to do this. But I saw if I did not, my six men would skip to the woods and leave Guyer in the mud. So I turned to the man and gave the command. He gave a sullen look at the handle of my revolver, and put his shoulder to the task. With seven men we went a mile when we met three others on their way to Buranen: one carried fish, another bananas, and another a bolo. These things, at the suggestion of my men, I commanded one man to take. The other two slunk into my service. Soon we came to a little bario or village. Here the leader of my men led by the arm to me a man. I told him to come, but he protested, saying he was a policeman. We asked at several houses and found this to be true, so we left him. But before leaving the town I pressed into my service three more men. We were pulling out of the village with ten men in line, six willing workers and four sullen ones, when the policeman, whom we tried to take, came running with three men to take his place. Thus we had thirteen men when we left Julite. Seven of these were kept in line by the fear of an American and his "pickaninny boom-boom" as they call a revolver. Night came on long before we got to Dulog. Then I felt some fear for a revolt on the part of my little band of native workers. Occasionally one would drop out of line. I would then walk over to him and soon he would be back in his place. When we finally got to Dulog one of the men asked me if I would not give them chow-chow supper, before saying thank you and sending them home. All along they had not expected pay, now they were trying to ask a supper. A native supper would have cost a native 5 cents. Think of this for an afternoon's pay, which to them was really more than they could expect. Under the impression that I was going to feed them rice, I took them to a "chulo's" store. Here I got a note changed and to the six Buranen men I gave each $1 mex; to the others I gave each 50 cents mex. You never saw a happier band, for to them 50 cents was more than they could earn in two days. The sullen men were all smiles and with the rest they doffed their hats and said, "buenos noches senor" (good-night sir). Thus I got Guyer to Dulog hospital where he is since doing nicely. Coming back I came with two armed soldiers. Looking at my gun they said, "that's a great thing to march with through a hostile country in command of thirteen natives." It did have a great deal to say in a forceful manner, for it got the men into the harness to get Guyer to Dulog. The gun alone did not do it. Spanish rule has made the native do what a white man commands, if that man is better armed than he is.

Do not worry about Guyer being sick; he is in no danger, in fact he is on a fair road to recovery. He has I think been thinking of home too much for his physical condition. In the Manila swamps his system was deranged; while there he suffered with severe cramps and headache. Since that he has not been well, the thing has culminated in the present fever. Manila swamps had no effect upon me. Since my sickness of vaccination I have never felt better, nor is my condition likely to change. My work is very light. The water and climate here are good. My school work is unique, A, B, C, rings in my ears all night. The most to trouble me is the native custom of studying out loud in school. Each pupil with a book seems to drown the reading of his neighbor. Sometimes this becomes so loud I cannot understand what a pupil says six feet from me. To stop this when the pupils do not know Spanish well, and you know little Spanish and much less Vasaga is a task that gives me trouble. They have studied thus for centuries, and for me a foreigner to come and say, or try to say study, is as bad as it would be for a foreigner to come into the Gettysburg schools and say, "boys and girls, when you study, study aloud, that is the only way to study." In time I think I shall be able to overcome this in the girls school. I do not know how Guyer shall get along with the boys.

FROM HUNTERSTOWN.

DEC 30.—Christmas exercises of an unusually attractive character were held in Great Conowago church on Monday evening, Dec. 23d, at 7.30 o'clock. The old church looked extremely pretty in her holiday attire. Evergreen decorations were everywhere in evidence. The effect was decidedly artistic. Not the least among these decoration was a Christmas tree of mammoth proportions, towering almost twenty-five feet in its majectic efforts to touch the arched ceiling of the historic edifice. This fir king of the forest groaned almost audibly under the weight of trimmings that brought forth unending words of admiration and commendation. The restless fall of the merry snowflakes held no terrors for the goodly gathering of mothers and fathers and grandparents and friends. A well trained chorus rendered a number of choice selections in an admirable style. The singing of the infant choir was especially delightful and pleasing. All in all it was an evening profitably spent and will long be remembered by all who braved the storm and found their places among the favored listeners.

The program was as follows:

"The Promise Fulfilled".................Geibel.
The Choral.
Prayer.
Recitation, "Fulfilled Phrophecy,"
An exercise by six of the children.
"The Star and the Infant"...........Geibel.
Primary song by the infant choir.
Responsive reading.
"Wake, O Bethlehem, From Sleep."..........Lehman.
The Choral.
"Ringing for Jesus,"
The infant choir.
Recitations by four of the children,
Anna Weaver, Master Jacob Echart,
May Brown, Master Chester Bell,
"The Coming of the King"..........Geibel.
The Choral.
Offering for Sabbath School.
"Rejoice"....................................Geibel.
The Choral.
Recitation,
Master David Taughinbaugh.
"On This Holy Christmas Day"....Geibel.
Primary motion song by the infant choir.
Address, "Christmas Duties,"
The Pastor.
"O, Haste on Swift Pinions" ......Lehman.
Duet by the Misses Taughinbaugh,
assisted by the Choral.
Recitation, "Gifts for Jesus,"
By five of the little folks.
"Merry Snowflakes"................Williams.

"Merry Bells"...............................Geibel.
The Choral.
Distribution of gifts.
"Christmas Closing Song"............Geibel.

Benediction.

The death of Miss Nancy King on Thursday morning was keenly felt by her many friends in and about town. She was the last of a family long residing in Hunterstown. Her end was peaceful and came as a gentle messenger to close a long and kindly life. She was born in 1818. Funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. Seth Russell Downie, at her home in the Square. Interment took place at the Presbyterian Cemetery at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The venerable Mr. Griffel, aged 89 years, has died. He was well known around the town, and was a veteran of the Mexican War. The funeral services were held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, and were conducted by Rev. Smiley, of the Salem congregation. Interment in Salem cemetery.

Misses Jane Taughinbaugh and Abigail Bell, who are attending the Shippensburg Normal school, spent their holiday vacation with their parents in this place.

The friends of John Tate—newly wed—gave him a royal "Send off" last Saturday evening. They spared no pains to make their combined efforts a success. They acquitted themselves nobly. Mr. Tate and his esteemable helpmeet have the best wishes of many friends for a happy married life D.

Many Millions for War.

The United States, although regarded as one of the most peaceful nations of the world, spent many millions for war expenses during the past century. People thoughout the country are also spending large sums of money in a vain search for a medicine that will absolutely cure indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, flatulency and nervousness. There is only one such medicine, and that is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is a household remedy, backed by thousands of testimonials. If you have wasted your money on useless remedies until you have lost hope of getting well again, we would urge you to try this medicine. It brings health to every sufferer. For sale by all Druggists. Apply to any one of them for a copy of Hostetter's Almanac for 1902.

A CHANGE IN MANAGEMENT.

It appears from information given out that the State Board of Public Charities has determined that the Insane Department, at least, of the County Home of Adams county shall be divorced from politics. This is as it should be; it is a departure upon which the people of Adams county will look with approval. To all it has become apparent that politics has played a large part in the selection of the employees of the institution and in its management, and has created a system of employment which is contrary to the spirit of the institution. That it is to be different hereafter is a source of gratification, as well on account of the comfort and welfare of the inmates as on account of the popular desire of a much-needed change in that direction.

THE STATE CAPITOL.

The Commission having in charge the selection of a plan for the erection of the State Capitol at Harrisburg has been so unnecessarily and unwisely secret in its dealing with the matter as to create more than a suspicion of favoritism and unfairness. There is no reason why the taxpayers, who are to pay four million dollars for the completed building, should not be privy to all the arrangements for the choice of architects and builders. Nor is there any reason why the Commission should go into a corner or behind the door in accomplishing any part of the duties laid upon it by the act of Assembly. Secrecy in the performance of a public trust carries an implication of unfaithfulness.

Considering the character of the present State administration and of the latest notorious Legislature it will be a happy turn of affairs if it shall prove to be true, as asserted by Hon John H Fow, that the act providing for the Capitol Commission and for the completion of the Capitol at a cost of four million dollars is fatally defective because of a failure to make any appropriation of the required money. Such a defect would bring the matter before the next Legislature. As there never can be elected in Pennsylvania another Legislature so wantonly and wickedly corrupt and regardless of the public welfare as the present Legislature, delay can only result in benefit. If there should not be any new Capitol erected in the next ten years no deserving interest would suffer. The people of Pennsylvania would be very glad to wait until the State government could be placed in the hands of men who should be willing to carry on the business of the administration in the light of day and in public view.—Phila Record

IT IS STATED that the Democratic people of Philadelphia and Pittsburg, in which cities the Democratic organizations have been annexes to the Quay machine, have determined to displace the party managers and take charge of the party affairs themselves. This is a good sign and argues well for the party in the State. It means the overthrow of bossism in Democratic management and the re-instating of the party in the good opinion of the people. When this is done the party will be a power in Pennsylvania.

WILLIAM E KAPP was sworn in as Prothonotary of Adams county by Register and Recorder H G Wehler and took possession of the office yesterday, Amos J Collins retiring

We have pleasure in complimenting Mr. Collins on the conduct of the office during his term of three years and in predicting the same satisfactory management by Mr. Kapp. The duties of the Prothonotary are very important, and it is always a source of gratification to the people to have capable men performing them.

WE compliment our contemporary, the Star and Sentinel, on its having reached, last Wednesday, its 101st birthday, also on its ability to announce that "in more than a century's existence the paper has never missed an issue, although in July, 1863, during the battle here, but a half sheet was issued." We extend our congratulations

WE are indebted to Isaac B. Brown, Deputy Secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs of Pennsylvania, for a copy of the railroad map of the State.

EDWARD SHORB DEAD

On Sunday morning, the 29th ult, at 7 30 o'clock fortified by the last sacred rites of the Catholic Church, Mr Edward Shorb, one of McSherrystown's most respected citizens, peacefully and calmly passed to his eternal repose

Mr Shorb was born November 1st 1824 On December 27th 1860, he married Miss Sallie Sneeringer His wife and a sister, Miss Joanna Shorb, who is now in St Agnes Hospital Baltimore, survive him

Mr Shorb's life forms a chapter in the history of McSherrystown One of its best citizens he saw with pride its rise and rapid growth and was ever solicitous for the welfare of the community in which he lived

The life of Mr Shorb proves to us that "kind words are more than coronets and simple faith than Norman blood" He knew but little of the learning and the honors of the world yet he was wise and respected beyond most men His wisdom consisted in following the dictates of a generous and kind heart, and in seeking first the Kingdom of Heaven, rather than the applause of men His truthfulness, candor, and fair dealing won the respect of all with whom he came in contact Devotedly attached to his wife, he proved himself a good husband and although his marriage was not blessed with children it was nevertheless a most happy one Not having children of his own on whom he might lavish his paternal love he sought the children of others and became a father to many an orphan There are many living and dead who blessed the day they first knew Edward Shorb Many a heart has been made happy and many a home has been brightened by the charity that his generous hand extended And when the prayers of the widow, the orphan, and the needy are heard by Heaven, then, indeed shall he be blest, for only they and God know the extent of his generosity and charity

It is well fitting that his long life, passed in doing good, should be followed even after his death by the continuance of his generous gifts to the cause of religion He provided most bountifully by his last will for the advancement of his church and schools, which he so dearly cherished and so liberally maintained while living

Eminently honest and open hearted, he was a devoted husband, a kind friend and an exemplary citizen When his last mortal remains shall have mingled with the dust, the memory of Mr Shorb will yet live and his name e all be in benediction. His charity and generosity have won for him the esteem and gratitude of his fellowmen, may they likewise procure for him eternal happiness in Heaven

The funeral of the deceased took place on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock solemn Mass was celebrated in St Mary's church by the V Rev Rector P P Hemler, V. F. Rev. T J Crotty, of Gettysburg, and Rev J C Foin, of Hanover, were respectively deacon and sub deacon of the Mass. Rev Martin Stetty, of Lancaster, was Master of Ceremonies

The Rt Rev J W Shanahan, Bishop of Harrisburg, gave the absolution of the body and delivered the sermon, which was a beautiful tribute to the exemplary civic and religious life of the deceased Among the other priests were, Rev Hugo Loague, of Conewago, Rev John C Thompson, of Bonneauville, Rev James Clarke, of McSherrystown, and Rev J Crane, of Conewago The pall bearers were Messrs Clement Sneeringer, Henry Eckenrode, Vincent Little, John Little, Lewis Klunk and Martin Hemler

LOOKING BACK

To the time when she was plucked from the very grasp of death, the natural impulse of the womanly heart is thankfulness for the means which saved her, and a desire to help other women in like case Those are the motives which prompted Mrs Ida Burnett to write the accompanying testimonial to the curative power of Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription This is only one cure out of thousands No one would dare say that the average woman was not as truthful as she is good And it is the truthful testimony of the average woman that "Favorite Prescription" cures womanly diseases when all other means and medicines absolutely fail It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves restores the appetite and induces refreshing sleep

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL
WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA

will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

"I have noticed that the sale on Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets is almost invariably to those who have once used them," says Mr. J H Weber, a prominent druggist of Cascade, Iowa What better recommendation could any medicine have than for people to call for it when again in need of such a remedy? REMARKABLE CURE OF CROUP A Little Boy's Life Saved. I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A E Steere, of Goodwin, S D, and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I though sure he was going to choke to death We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today.—JOEL DEMONT, Inwood, Iowa. For sale by S. J. Codori.

THE IRON MILL.

The $5,000 Virtually Subscribed and the New Industry Practically Assured—The Location of the Plant.

We understand from gentlemen interested in the proposed new Iron Mill that the $5,000 asked for having been about subscribed, the industry is practically assured for Gettysburg. It is not as yet stated who compose the company, but we are informed that they are practical iron people.

The products of the plant are not to be manufactured from ore, but from what is known as "scrap," which is purchasable in large quantities and makes the best of material.

It is expected that the industry will employ from the start about 150 hands and will pay out monthly for labor about $5,000.

Should the project materialize it will be a big boom for Gettysburg, and it should be given all the assistance possible. The general willingness of our people to subscribe the required bonus is, of course, an indication of the desire of our citizens to have the plant established here.

The location of the plant has already been decided upon, it is stated, and is to be on the tract of land immediately west of the P. & R. R. R. roundhouse and between the tracks of the P. & R. and the W. M. R. R.

The remaining few hundred dollars should be cheerfully given by those who are yet to be called upon.

TO JOHN BURNS.

Our readers will recall the appropriation by the Legislative during the last session of $1,500 for the erection on the Battlefield of Gettysburg of a memorial to John Burns, the hero of Gettysburg.

Work on the foundation was recently begun. The dimensions of the foundation will be four by eight feet, upon which will be placed a large boulder of Gettysburg granite weighing nine tons, and upon this will rest the life-sized bronze figure of Burns.

The monument is being erected under the supervision of the Gettysburg Battlefield Commission and will be located north of Reynolds' Grove, along Stone avenue and near the 150th Pennsylvania monument. Burrow Brothers, of Philadelphia, are the sculptors.

THE Town Council will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening.

THERE will be a meeting of the Fire Company to-morrow evening at the usual place, to elect officers nominated at the December meeting.

J. GEO. WOLF'S SON'S Co. have sold the old Sheads' office at the corner of Stratton street and the Railroad to Samuel Little, who has torn it down and removed the materials. The office was in good condition until last May, when several coal cars were shifted into it, knocking it into a partial wreck.

THE Bowling contest, held in Xavier Hall on New Year's Day, afternoon and evening, was fairly well attended. The floor was in fine condition and the new pins were used for the first time. As usual, Father Crotty was an easy first. E. P. Wisotzkey was second, and Fred. Kimple third.

THE County Auditors, who began work yesterday, allowed D. B. Alleman $800 on his bill of $1200 for printing the ballots for the last election, and refused his claim for printing the Sheriff's proclamation, we are informed.

A CHIMNEY of the house of Prof. Aaron Sheely on West Middle street caught fire about 6 o'clock, New Year's evening. The firemen promptly responded to the alarm, but their services were not required, as Foreman E. P. Wisotzkey by the use of the Babcock Extinguisher, readily controlled the flames.

A PERSELL single-slant light of ground-glass is being put in on the third floor of the McPherson Building at the corner of Baltimore and Middle streets, for J. I. Mumper, photographer. M. E. Stallsmith has the contract for the work.

CLERK OF THE COURTS RICE during 1900 issued 236 marriage licenses. Last year the number was 245.

THE Reading train, due here at 6 40 p. m., was unusually late last Thursday evening. One of the engine rods broke, making it necessary to return to Harrisburg for a substitute.

AN old fashioned country dance, the first of the season, was given in Xavier Hall last Thursday evening. There was plenty of room for dancing, though a large majority seemed to prefer to remain onlookers. Refreshments, hot coffee and sandwiches, were for sale. The music was furnished by several fiddlers, accompanied by the piano. All seemed to enjoy themselves hugely.

THE soap factory will be started in about two weeks, we are informed.

GENTLEMEN interested in the proposed W. W. & G. R. R. state that there is no doubt of the road being built.

TWENTY FIVE rights-of way from owners of land in this County to the Washington, Westminster and Gettysburg R. R. have been filed in the Recorder's office.

SKATING has been quite good on the Springs Dam, and on New Year's Day a number of young people were out and enjoyed themselves immensely. The breast of the dam was repaired some time ago so that the area has been enlarged considerably, giving the skaters plenty of elbow-room.

A VERY enjoyable evening sociable was held last Tuesday at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. and Mrs. V. T. Rue, for the young people of the church, of whom a goodly number were present.

THE Week of Prayer services will be continued during the week in St. James Lutheran church.

RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF JACOB B. ROUTSONG.

The following resolutions on the death of Jacob Routsong were passed by his fellow directors of the Citizens' Bank, of this place:

WHEREAS the hand of death has recently removed one of our number, Jacob B. Routsong, of Bendersville, Pa., in whom we recognized a devoted friend of the Citizens' Bank, a loving father and husband, a useful citizen of the county and an exemplary Christian gentleman therefore be it

Resolved, That the directors of the Citizens' Bank do hereby extend their warmest sympathy and condolence to the wife and family of our deceased brother in their great and sudden affliction, and our belief that in time to come it will be a great comfort to them to know, as we now know, that he has left an honored and honorable name for his family, that he died, though still in his prime, after a life of usefulness in his community.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our deceased brother, and be entered on the minutes of this board and published in county papers.

COMMITTEE.

LOCAL DAIRYMEN ORGANIZE.

A meeting of the dairymen of this vicinity was held Saturday morning, December 28th, when an organization was effected with J. T. Hartzel, President, P. L. Houck, Vice President, and D. J. Forney, Secretary. It was unanimously decided to raise the price of milk to 6 cents per quart, an increase of 1 cent; the price of cream to remain the same as before—16 cents a quart. This action has been forced on the local dairymen, as it has been on the dairymen of all the towns surrounding, by the unusual price of feed, a ton of feed now costing about $25.00. While some, no doubt, will object to the advance of the price, a majority of the people will see the reasonableness of the action taken by the dairymen. The margin of profit in the milk business, we are assured, is very small this winter. As wheat is worth about the same as mixed feed, some farmers are feeding a part ration of wheat.

TO LIMIT WHEAT CROP.

Many Pennsylvania farmers have received circulars asking their co-operation in a Kansas scheme to limit the production of wheat by curtailing the area devoted to this crop, says an exchange. The proposition is that each farmer entering into the scheme shall only sow enough wheat in 1902 for his seed and let the world at large obtain its supply of bread as best it may.

The indications are that this plan, like many similar ones, will fail to obtain the sanction of the class which is is proposed to benefit, for farmers seem disposed to advise the course to their neighbors, but to increase their own wheat area. At present many farmers in this state are feeding wheat to stock. Careful experiments prove that if fed to poultry this way of disposing of the crop is more profitable than a sale at present prices.

DEATHS.

Daniel J. Little, who was stricken with paralysis on Thursday, died last evening about 8 o'clock. He was aged 67 years. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon.

William W. Blocher, of Biglerville, died last Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Rice, in Tyrone township, aged 70 years, 4 months and 26 days.

The burial took place at Biglerville on Saturday, when Good Samaritan Lodge, F. & A. M., conducted the services, brothers Walter, Skelly and Robert Caldwell being in charge.

The deceased is survived by the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Rice, of Tyrone township; Charles, of Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. John Mickley, of Cashtown; Mrs. Uhler, of York, and a son at Chester. Also by these brothers and sisters: Hon. T. S. Blocher, of Littlestown; Edw. C., Andrew and James Blocher, and Mrs. Haines and Mrs. Carson, of Bendersville and vicinity.

Henry Epley, a well-known resident of Butler township, died suddenly last Thursday. He complained of feeling unwell during the morning, but in the afternoon went out to cut wood. As he did not return at the usual time search was made for him, and his dead body was found. He died evidently but a short time before the body was found. The cause of death was supposed to be apoplexy. He was aged 66 years.

John Hoffman died at Fairfield last Tuesday, December 31, at the advanced age of 86 years, 5 months and 6 days. The funeral services were in charge of Rev. Father McDermitt, of Waynesboro; burial at Fairfield. The deceased was the father of seventeen children. There are seventy-eight grandchildren and one hundred and seventeen great-grandchildren.

Jacob D. Rudisill, of Oxford township, died Tuesday afternoon last of paralysis after an illness of about seven months, aged 83 years.

Deceased was a son of Andrew Rudisill, of York county, and was a life long farmer. About 48 years ago he married Maria, daughter of John Hershey, of Heidelberg township; she died about a year ago. He is survived by two sons, Jacob, of Penn township, and Andrew, of Oxford township, and four daughters, Mrs. William Worley, of Hanover, Mrs. Sallie Wetzel and Mrs. Alice Hoke, of Penn township, and Miss Annie, at home.

In the death of Joel Myers, which occurred at his late home at York Road, Md., on Christmas day, Carroll Co. again loses one of its best known and most highly valued citizens. He was engaged during the most of his life at milling, and was at one time connected with the warehouse at York Road. He was a man whose opinion and judgment was much sought after, and who enjoyed a deserved reputation for uprightness.—Carroll Record.

Mr. Myers was a member of the German Baptist Church. His wife, who was Miss Mary Sherfy, of Gettysburg, survives him, together with three children, two sons and one daughter. He also leaves two brothers, Philip, of Union Bridge, and Davis, of Uniontown, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Garner, of Middleburg, and Mrs. Jane Foutz, of Clear Ridge, near Uniontown.

Interment took place at Pipe Creek, near Uniontown.

To any person making a deposit of One Dollar, the bank will issue a pass book and will lend a safe. This private home safe is a small steel strong box with a door in front and a slot in the top, through which the money can be put, but from which none can be taken. This miniature safe is issued to you locked. We keep the key. It is like a branch of the Citizens' Bank in your house. You drop in the spare change, and periodically return the safe to us, when we will take out the money, put it to your credit in your pass book and allow two per cent. interest on it. Money can be withdrawn at any time, but interest is only allowed on sums remaining with the bank sixty days.

With One Dollar You Can Open an Account, get a pass book, showing the deposit and have the safe delivered to you. The safe is never sold, but is only loaned to depositors.

An Easy Way to Save. The banks can be seen at the banking place of The Citizens' Bank, Gettysburg, Pa.

The Citizens' Bank also pays interest at the rate of three per cent. on certificates of deposit for one year or longer.

WHY CLOVER IS GROWN.

MANY BENEFITS TO THE SOIL TO BE DERIVED FROM CLOVER.

Clover is grown that we may have an ideal corn-growing soil, and the best roughage in the world for the live stock needed to make corn-growing most profitable. Corn, to make a successful growth needs a deep, rich, warm soil that will hold moisture during a drought, and if properly handled, a single crop of clover may double or even treble the available plant food for the succeeding corn crop. Clover in its growth makes a deep soil, filling even the poorest soils to a depth of three or more feet with its immense number of roots, and probably feeds deeper than does corn. Clover subsists on the potash and phosphoric acid gathered from the subsoil and nitrogen taken from the air, elements that are not available to corn, and deposits it near the surface where the corn can get at it. It thus rests and enriches the surface soil at the same time. The roots decaying in the lower layers of the soil set up a fermentation that releases the plant food locked up in them. As these roots decay, passages for air and water are opened up. The more readily air and water circulate through any heavy soil or subsoil, the more of its plant food becomes available. The more clover grown the deeper we can lay our tile drains, especially in heavy soils, and we all know the deeper we lay our drains the deeper the soil is. Clover makes the soil warmer. A soil that is full of vegetable matter warms up faster in the spring and is several degrees warmer in fact than soils that have little or no vegetable matter in them. Plowing whole crops of clover into clay soils makes the soil darker, and the darker the soil the warmer it is. But unless the excess of moisture can be removed from the soil early in the season corn will never do its best, thus clover helps when plowed into heavy soils. The decaying roots and tops fill the soil with passages that lead the excess of water quickly to the drains, and if this superfluous water is not drained away from beneath, it must in large part evaporate from the surface, which is a cooling process. Thus in helping the excess of water to the drains the result is a warmer soil. Clover plowed into the soil improves its mechanical conditions, making easier the preparation of seed beds and cultivation of crops. Clover shades the land better than any other crop and is an enriching process. It produces a large amount of either green or dry forage, rich in protein, and if need be, when common red is sown, a crop of seed may be harvested the same year. It is almost a balanced ration and is a good maintenance ration for all kinds of live stock. In short, clover is grown to make the soil deep and warm; to improve the mechanical conditions of the soil; to assist in ridding the soil of the excess of water in the spring and hold moisture in summer to shade the soil; to extract nitrogen from the air, and potash and phosphoric acid from the subsoil.—The Prairie Farmer.

LATE LITERARY NEWS.

Are England, Scotland and Ireland destined, ultimately, to become a part of "The United States of America and Great Britain?" is the inquiry which William T. Stead makes in the January Cosmopolitan. He has been one of the prophets of Great Britain, and has, at all times, been able to see in advance of his contemporaries—as events have proven. He has been studying the new conditions brought about by the industrial combinations and reaches the conclusion that England and the United States are destined to be more closely united and that as soon as the English people wake up to the absurdity and general uselessness, as has been shown in the Boer War, of a king and aristocracy, the trend will be immediate in the direction of a union with the people of the United States. However much one may differ from Mr. Stead, his speculations will be found vastly interesting. He is the first British subject who has had the courage to suggest such an outcome.

The equipment and machinery of the Union Bridge shirt factory were sold at public sale recently by E. O. Weant, attorney, to John W. Weant, for $700. The factory had been in operation but a short time.

New Jersey lost one of her foremost citizens Friday the 26th, when Senator William J. Sewell breathed his last.

H. Stewart Roberts, one of the best known and most influential men of Carroll county, Md., died recently at his residence, near Medford, of heart failure, aged about 54 years.

Henry C. Payne, who is to be Postmaster General Smith's successor, has declared himself in favor of one-cent postage.

Near the southern edge of York county, Pa., is a walnut log for which $1,500 was recently refused. It was found by a man who was making an excavation in the bank of a creek and who, realizing the value of the discovery, went to the owner of the land and secured possession of the piece of timber for $75. He dug it out of the sand and clay, and a lumberman who examined it offered the price first mentioned. The owner asks $1,800. The timber has been covered possibly for centuries and the wood is as black and hard as mahogany.

THE SPEED OF THE BLOOD.

IT TRAVELS AT A TERRIFIC RATE THROUGH THE BODY—SOME INTERESTING STATISTICS.

The mileage of blood circulation reveals some interesting facts. A drop of blood, for instance, takes but 21 seconds to go the whole round of the body. In sixty seconds it covers 207 yards. In the course of a year it travels 6,320 miles.

The blood is life. While it retains its natural purity, this speed is maintained and its vitalizing power is continued. But impurities enter into it. The blood gets draggy. It refuses to perform its work. Rheumatism, nervousness, dyspepsia, scrofula and a host of other diseases are the result. The blood needs cleansing.

In other days they cleansed the blood by drawing it from the body. Blood-letting was a common occurrence. To-day YAGER'S SARSAPARILLA WITH CELERY does the work. Its medicinal merit is one of the triumphs of modern methods. It combines the value of the two most helpful drugs in the pharmaceutical list. By direct and indirect action it renovates the functions of the body and puts them in the proper condition to do the work intended by nature.

It is invaluable for young or old. Mrs. C. R. Tyler, of Lisbon, Va., says:

"I take great pleasure in recommending to the public YAGER'S SARSAPARILLA WITH CELERY: my husband and little daughter have both taken it with best results. Our little two year old girl, is especially benefited; everybody that sees her has something to say about the way she has improved, and I hope everybody that has sick children will give it a trial."

YAGER'S SARSAPARILLA WITH CELERY is sold by leading druggists 50c. a large bottle. Made by Gilbert Bros. & Co., Baltimore, Md.

STARVATION

Dire Distress Relieved by Dr. Greene's Nervura, Dyspepsia's Sovereign Cure.

"The sight of food disgusts me. I can't eat. What shall I do for strength?"

Starvation is the right name for weakness, because all strength comes from food. Many people eat great quantities of food and get little benefit from it because their stomachs are disordered. Others cannot eat. How frequently you hear them say, "The very thought of food nauseates me!" Regulate your stomach at once with Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Get the benefit of your food. Get the appetite for it. Get the strength you are entitled to. Get it by natural, honest, healthy means.

MR. C. J. BENTLEY, Architect, 292 2d St., Memphis, Tenn., says:

"I suffered from nervous prostration, brought on by overwork and study in my profession.

"I was attacked with nervous trembling of my hands, loss of appetite and loss of sleep, and seeing an advertisement in our city paper of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, I concluded to try it.

"I found that the Nervura acted wonderfully and gave me relief inside of twenty-four hours.

"I am now no longer nervous, have a good appetite, and sleep well. I can truly recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura to all sufferers from nervous disease."

Distaste for food and distress from eating are due primarily to disturbed nerves. Poor blood and general weakness, inability to sleep, kidney and liver trouble all follow quickly when the stomach is out of order.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the absolute cure for stomach troubles. Thousands on thousands testify to its marvelously effective work. Dr. Greene examines and advises free at 101 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Call or write.

Dr. Greene's Laxura Pills cure constipation quickly and permanently.

Rheumatism

Rheumatic pains are the cries of protest and distress from tortured muscles, aching joints and excited nerves. The blood has been poisoned by the accumulation of waste matter in the system, and can no longer supply the pure and health sustaining food they require. The whole system feels the effect of this acid poison; and not until the blood has been purified and brought back to a healthy condition will the aches and pains cease.

Mrs. James Kell, of 707 Ninth street, N. E., Washington, D. C., writes as follows: "A few months ago I had an attack of Sciatic Rheumatism in its worst form. The pain was so intense that I became completely prostrated. The attack was an unusually severe one, and my condition was regarded as being very dangerous. I was attended by one of the most able doctors in Washington, who is also a member of the faculty of a leading medical college here. He told me to continue his prescriptions and I would get well. After having it filled twelve times without receiving the slightest benefit, I declined to continue his treatment any longer. Having heard of S. S. S. (Swift's Specific) recommended for Rheumatism, I decided, almost in despair however, to give the medicine a trial, and after I had taken a few bottles I was able to hobble around on crutches, and very soon thereafter had no use for them at all, S. S. S. having cured me sound and well. All the distressing pains have left me, my appetite has returned, and I am happy to be again restored to perfect health.

SSS the great vegetable purifier and tonic, is the ideal remedy in all rheumatic troubles. There are no opiates or minerals in it to disturb the digestion and lead to ruinous habits.

We have prepared a special book on Rheumatism which every sufferer from this painful disease should read. It is the most complete and interesting book of the kind in existence. It will be sent free to any one desiring it. Write our physicians fully and freely about your case. We make no charge for medical advice.

MISTAKE IN A CHECK.

But the Haughty Waitress Would Not Permit Its Correction.

A little, mild mannered man was finishing his midday repast with a piece of pumpkin pie in a street light lunch cafe. As he lingered over the last morsel he coughed apologetically to attract the attention of the haughty blond young woman behind the counter, and, having caught her eye, he said, "I beg your pardon, but you made a mistake of 10 cents in my check yesterday, and"—

"Too late now!" snapped the blond young woman, turning again to a pale youth with an incipient mustache, with whom she had been holding an animated conversation.

The mild mannered little man sighed and gulped down the last of his coffee. "I was about to say," he remarked as the blond young woman turned, "that the mistake I spoke of was"—

"We don't correct mistakes," she interrupted, punching 20 cents in a check and handing it to him. The youth with the incipient mustache giggled into his paper napkin.

"If you will listen to me a moment," said the little man, "I will explain that the 10 cents"—

"Yes, we had a perfectly lovely time at the ball," remarked the waitress, again addressing the youth with the fuzz on his lip. "Listen here." Then she leaned over and lowered her voice to a confidential tone.

The mild little man crumpled up his napkin and threw it viciously on the floor. "A man can't be honest even if he tries to be," he exclaimed. "I wasn't overcharged yesterday. My check was 10 cents less than it should have been, and I was about to ask you to add it to this."

But the haughty young blond woman pretended not to hear, and the mild little man picked up his check and walked to the cashier's desk.—Philadelphia Record.

Some Feeling Left.

"It does a person good to find that even burglars have some humanity left in their hearts," said the old lady as she laid down her paper.

"What is it?" was asked.

"Why, here is an account of a burglar who got into a house where there was a sick man whose life was despaired of."

"And gave him a great shock?"

"No, he didn't. He evidently pitied the poor man and wanted to see him restored to health, and he bit him with a life preserver!"

Something In Her Favor.

Manning—What is there to be said about the girl anyway?

Mrs. Manning—Well, there is one thing at least. She never gave her mother a cross word.

Manning—Yes, that is something. Does she still live with her mother?

Mrs. Manning—Bless your heart, her mother died when the girl was less than a year old!—Boston Transcript.

Better Than Nothing.

"Yes, dear, our show was a failure, but I got enough vegetables out of it to keep us from starving anyhow."—New York Journal.

Too Many Letters.

"No," said the cheerful man, "a man can't be too careful about writing letters."

"That's right," replied the nervous individual. "I wrote three once that have kept me in hot water ever since."

"Ah! Love letters, I suppose; breach of"—

"No, sir; 'I. O. U.'"—Catholic Standard and Times.

Second Fiddle.

"My wife told me to order some cards to be engraved," said a meek little man with a stunted voice. "Is this the place?"

"Yes. What is the inscription to be?"

"Why—er—Mrs and Mr. Henry Peck is what she wants."—Philadelphia Press.

His Moderate Ambition.

"Would you," asked the first artist, "be satisfied with an ephemeral success?"

"I would," replied the second artist. "I'm ephemeral myself, and I'd be satisfied with a success that would last as long as I do."—New York Sun.

An Ideal Husband.

If a man wants to be an ideal husband, he buys a little notebook at this season and carefully jots down all the things his wife and children express a wish for, that he may buy them for Christmas.—Atchison Globe.

Behind the Scenes.

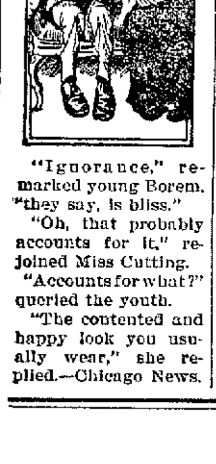

Sue Brette—I see they have named a cigar after your leading man.

The Manager—Well, I hope to gracious it will draw better than he does!—Yonkers Statesman.

And Boasts of It.

A woman always remembers the things that she should forget.—Chicago News.

An Explanation.

"Ignorance," remarked young Borem, "they say, is bliss."

"Oh, that probably accounts for it," rejoined Miss Cutting.

"Accounts for what?" queried the youth.

"The contented and happy look you usually wear," she replied.—Chicago News.

The Diplomat.

Little Johnny (caught in the act)—I must say, mother, that when Willie Jones says his ma's jams are better than yours he's a poor judge of jams!—New York Journal.

His Plea.

Judge—You are sentenced to eight days' imprisonment for wife beating.

Prisoner—I hope your honor will remit the sentence. It would shorten by so much our honeymoon. We've only been married a fortnight!—New York World.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR YOUNG FOLKS.

Are there any boys or girls in your home? If so, do you want them to grow up familiar with the best literature and art, and with all their best impulses quickened? There is a way to do it, at an expense of less than one cent a day—a way to have in your home the greatest educational influence of our time.

"St. Nicholas for Young Folks" is the medium—a magazine absolutely unequalled in the literature of the world. It is recommended by educators everywhere,—it contains only the very best and most helpful and entertaining literature, and it is illustrated by the greatest of American illustrators.

In 1902

some new features are to be introduced into this famous periodical—one is the printing of long stories complete in a single number,—no serials. A splendid group of stories by the best living writers for young folk has been gathered for this purpose.

"Nature Study"

is now a great feature of St. Nicholas. The young readers ask questions and they are answered in a department called "Nature and Science." Private schools take the magazine for this alone. The "St. Nicholas League" is an organization of St. Nicholas readers wherein prizes are offered for the best pictures, stories, poems, etc.

$3.00 a year. November and December numbers free to new subscribers who begin with January. (November begins the volume.)

ZEB WHITE'S VISITOR

HE RECEIVES A CALL FROM A STRANGER LOOKING FOR TROUBLE.

The Old Possum Hunter of Tennessee Tries to Accommodate the Individual When Old Bruin Steps In and Spoils Matters.

[Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.]

"Me and the old woman had both bin havin' chills and fever," said the old possum hunter of Tennessee as he got his pipe alight, "and I was almost too weak to lift an ax, when a feller named Abe Brockford sot out to humiliate me. He wasn't doin' any braggin' as long as I was able to be about, but when he heard how porely I was he squared off in front of the cabin one night and shouted:

"'Hello thar, inside! Am I makin' a mistake in supposin' this to be the residence of Zeb White?'

"'Yo' ain't,' says I as I crawls to the door in my weakness.

"'Is it Zeb White who is reckoned to be the longest jumper, the tallest climber and the hardest fighter in all this yere state?'

"'The same, and what's wantin'?'

"'What's wantin'?' he repeats as he flings his hat down and jumps on it.

"HELLO THAR, INSIDE!"

'Thar's a heap wantin'. I've walked seven miles to stand befo' yo' and say that I'm sp'ilin' fur a fout and hev got to hev one or bu'st. Don't disapp'int me, Zeb White. Come out like a man and squar' off at me.'

"I told him I'd been freezin' and burnin' and couldn't fight a rabbit, but that only made him wuss.

"'Zeb White, if yo've got any mercy in yo'r heart come out yere and dance around while I pulverize yo'r bones!'

"It hurt me mighty bad to be talked to that way," said the old man, "but I was helpless about it. All I could do was to shet the doah and fling myself on the bed and cuss and weep. The old woman tried to console me, but the feller kept his mouth goin' till I was purty nigh crazy. By and by I says to her:

"'Do yo' reckon that if I prayed to the Lawd fur strength my prayer would be answered?'

"'That's accordin',' she answers, 'What do yo' want the strength fur?'

"'To go out and smash Abe Brockford.'

"'Then yo' won't git it. The Lawd ain't mixin' up in sich rows.'

"'But he might if yo' prayed too.'

"'But I shan't do it. When the critter out thar gits tired of talkin', he'll go home.'

"I lay quiet fur half an hour, but Abe didn't go, and when the old woman sees how bad I was feelin' she says:

"'Abe, I'm willin' to try a sort of experiment. It ain't right to bother the Lawd with our trubbles, and prayers and fightin' don't go together, but under the sarcumstances I'll do what I kin. I'll ax that yo' be given strength to go out and whop Abe, but yo' must dun take yo'r chances over it.'

"'What chances?' I asks.

"'Mebbe yo'll whop, and mebbe yo'll git whopped. Can't tell how my prayer'll be received, yo' know.'

"'Go ahead,' says I, and as she went off into a corner I heard the voice of that critter Abe a-shoutin':

"'I'm callin' fur Zeb White to come out and be eaten alive without salt or pepper, but, alas, he's crawled into the cupboard and won't show up!'

"All of a sudden I begun to feel stronger, and by the time the old woman had finished I told her that I was all right to go out and drive Abe into the airth.

"'Better not go,' she says as she looks trubbled.

"'Why not?'

"'Bekase I'm not suah about it. I prayed hard 'nuff, but I hevn't got the feelin' that yo' are gwine out to whop anybody. Sorter feels to me that yo'll git the worst of it.'

"It was mighty cur'us about my gittin' strong," mused Zeb, "and to this day I can't make it out. Perhaps it was all owin' to my madness. The old woman hung on fur me not to go, but I put her aside and rushed out. It was a darkish night, but I saw Abe standin' a few feet away and sailed fur him. I was gwine to whop him blind in two mennits, but I hadn't counted on sartin things. Fustly, the critter had got tired and gone home, and, secondly, a powerful big b'ar had taken his place. I knowed it as I grabbed his fur, but it was then too late. He jest hauled off with his right paw and fetched me a swat on the side of the head that put me out of it, and it was daylight befo' I come to and found myself on the bed.

"'What's happened?' I asked of the old woman.

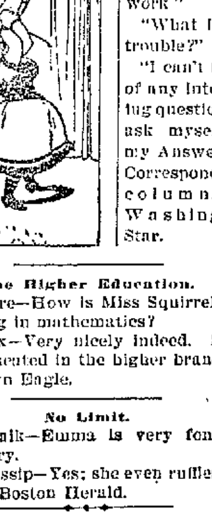

"'Experimentin',' she answers.

"'As how?'

"'Prayin to the Lawd to back yo' to wallop Abe Brockford. Abe slipped out, and a b'ar slipped in, and as nigh as I kin make out Providence didn't stand by yo' fur shucks. I told yo' it might be so, and now I reckon yo'd better keep still and let it go that yo' made a fule of yo'self!'"
